Dear Apostle Kasagga,

We are delighted to invite you to visit [Name Country] in [Month and Year]. Our church, [Church Name], would be honored to host you as you connect with Christian leaders and communities in [Name Country].

During your stay, we have planned various engagements, including visits to churches, church gatherings, and conferences (include detail itinerary if possible). This will provide a wonderful opportunity for cultural exchange and building bridges between our Christian communities in [Name Country] and East Africa.

We are pleased to confirm that we will provide for all your expenses related to this trip, including:

- Accommodation
- Food and non-alcoholic beverages
- Medical emergency care (if needed)
- All other expenses that may arise during your stay in [Name Country].

We envision this visit as a stepping stone for a meaningful ministry relationship and exchange program, where young Christians from [Name Country] can visit Uganda and experience the rich culture and spiritual heritage of your country.

We look forward to your arrival in [Month and Year] and assure you of our warm hospitality. Please let us know your travel dates and other details so we can make necessary arrangements.

May God bless your journey and our time together.

Warm regards,

[Host's Name]

Please ensure that your letter bears signature of the person or persons authorized to execute it, and is notarized by a qualified notary public (notarial seal).

Who Can Notarize a letter? In Some jurisdictions, a public servant may be authorized to notarize a letter by simply signing it and including their Name, Profession (or title), Contact address (Phone /Email). This is called "certification" or "verification". The public servant's signature and details serve as a confirmation of the letter's authenticity. Examples of public servants who may be able to notarize letters in this way include Government officials, Ranking Police officers, Ranking Military officers, qualified/Certified Teachers or medical personnel, and Other authorized personnel. This may not be applicable in all cases or jurisdictions. Some countries require a traditional notarization by a Notary Public or other authorized official. Please check local laws and regulations to determine the specific requirements for notarizing an invitation letter.
